The Last Great Battle.

Under the telegraph head, this morning, will be found very interesting descriptions of the Battle of Solferino, received by the mails of the steamship Ætna, which arrived at New York yesterday. Accounts, both from Austrian and French sources, are given. The battle will, undoubtedly, rank as one of the bloodiest on the record of modern warfare. The Austrians acknowledge that their loss was not less than twenty thousand in killed and wounded, and concede the victory to the Allies. No official announcement of the French loss has yet been made, but private statements place it at sixteen to eighteen thousand men. If this be correct, then NAPOLEON has paid dearly enough for his glory. The movement of the Austrians in crossing the Mincio, to attack their victorious pursuers, was a daring venture, and had its result been commensurate with the spirit that prompted it, victory would have, for once at least, perched upon the Austrian Eagles.

Minnesota Currency.

The people of Minnesota are bitterly lamenting the folly of their Legislature in passing a law permitting the issue of bank notes secured only by the bonds of perspective Railroads. The State is flooded with these bills, which not being convertible are useless as a medium of currency, and the people are suffering terribly from the consequences.—On Saturday evening, as we learn from the Minnesotian, a mass meeting of the merchants and business men of St. Paul was held at that place and the subject fully discussed.—Some of the officials and State plunderers were handled without gloves, and as will be seen by the subjoined extracts from the proceedings, the notorious "Forty Thieves" of Wisconsin have had a finger in the pie:

The Chairman on taking his seat made an address in his usual pungent and spicy style referring to the troubles that have been afflicting us for so long, and the necessity for some speedy and proper means of getting a remedy for them—pitching into the "Forty Thieves of Wisconsin" who he said, are still plotting to our destruction, and now want to get our fall crop, our last resource, into their grasp, &c., which was applauded frequently.

Mr. Wm. L. Banning, by request, addressed the meeting in a lengthy speech, which was warmly applauded. He said he should speak candidly and fearlessly, and appeal to the sense and sober thought of his hearers. He differed from other citizens in regard to questions once agitated, but now he buried the hatchet, and we would all confer together how we shall be relieved from our present straits. In regard to the present meeting he had had nothing to do—had not even signed the call. But he still held to his former positions on certain questions, and asked justice of the newspapers which had misrepresented him.

He said the reason why we have not good currency now is on account of the amendment to the bank bill fraudulently got thro' on the eve of the last session, so that the railroad managers could make money out of their unsaleable bonds! Step by step he had followed the Forty Thieves through their machinations, and knew that the bill under which the bastard currency is issued was passed by bribery, and the results will affect us for years.

The swindlers—the Forty Thieves he had mentioned, had bought up the Wisconsin legislature, the Governor and the Courts. That is the history of our State too. The State bonds honestly voted by you to build roads, &c., had been used to pay corruption debts—to buy Legislators. But we must not repudiate—we must pay honestly contracted debts, but stop the farther issue from the State.—About a million and a half had been honestly expended. Make this amount good, and we will have that much safe basis for currency. But the issue on the present bonds must be stopped. We have learned a lesson now, but a dear one.

A series of resolutions offered were laid over for consideration at a future meeting.

Crop Items.

THE CROPS IN CHIPPEWA COUNTY:—Messrs. Editors:—The crops in this section of the country look remarkably well.—Considering the cold North winds that we had last month, oats and spring wheat never promised better at this season of the year.

J. R. MELONY, P. M.

Bloomer Prairie, Chippewa Co., Wis., July 4.

WAUSHARA COUNTY.

WHEAT.—E. W. Daniels, of Aurora, in the town of Sacramento, is bragging on his field of wheat. It will average over five feet in height, and it stands very thick on the ground. The heads are of good length, and give promise of an abundant yield. Crops generally are looking well in that region—and in fact in all parts of the county.—Wautoma Argus.

RACINE COUNTY.

The Racine Advocate says:

The crops on the route of the Racine and Mississippi Railroad look well, and with the exception of an occasional piece of corn or wheat, one could not desire better prospects for the farmer, than those presented, till we come within the influence of the lake winds. The crops in this county were the poorest we saw on the route, and yet our farmers would make a good show alongside of most of the "down east" tillers of the soil.

The prospects for a good harvest are flattering, and if they are realized, we may reasonably expect a release from the nipping pressure of the hard times, which have held the West with so firm a grip during the past two years.

JUNEAU COUNTY.

The Mauston Star says:

This important period of the year is at hand, bringing with it a bountiful crop.—Some of the farmers of this county commenced harvesting their winter wheat last week, while a large number are preparing to harvest during this and the next. It is slightly affected with smut in some places, but we believe the greater share is beyond danger of rust, and will be harvested without injury except to the straw as forage, which is but of slight consequence if the wheat is not injured. The spring wheat looks promising in all parts of the county, and a few weeks more of favorable weather will give to the farmer a bountiful reward for his toil and deprivation of the past year. * * * * * *

The crops are so far good—the weather is extremely favorable—and from present prospects we shall have an unprecedented amount of produce to dispose of this fall. A good crop will place nearly every farmer in an independent position.

GREEN COUNTY.

The Monroe Sentinel says:

The warm weather is having a favorable effect upon the corn, which is advancing with rapidity. Wheat is fast coming to maturity, and thus far promises a splendid crop, though we hear some fears expressed about rust. Everything else in the produce line is growing as well as could be desired.

GREEN LAKE COUNTY.

The Ripon Star says:

Never before has there been as good a prospect of wheat with our farmers as at this present time. The season from the commencement has been most propitious—moisture, temperature, and Heaven's blessings generally seem to have united in an effort to do their best for the wheat fields of Green Lake county, and eminent has been their success, producing a more uniform heavy growth, and a greater length of head than has been in years. If the coming two weeks bring no ills to this, our staple product, our farmers will feel themselves up to their true dignity.

Correction.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

EAGLE, July 13th, 1859.

ED. SENTINEL:—In your paper of yesterday, you state that the R. R. Saloon, recently burned in Delavan, was "insured for $1,300, being more than it was worth."—The building was insured for $600 only.—You were probably led into error by the tissue of falsehoods which appeared in the News, over the signature of J. R. MANSFIELD, Postmaster at that place; a man whose character for veracity is notoriously bad.

Please make this correction, and oblige owner and subscriber. Yours, truly,
H. W. BOVEE.

ASSAULT UPON AN EDITOR.—The editor of the Toledo Blade, C. WAGGONER, was brutally assaulted a few nights since, on returning to his home, by one PAUL EDWARDS, who, it appears, is Canal Collector at that point. In a card signed by himself, after giving an account of the manner in which he was assaulted, &c., the editor of the Blade thus explains the causes that led to the affair:

The only explanation I have from my assaulter of his reasons for this attack upon me, was afterwards received through third parties. To them he stated that it was made in consequence of the comments in the editorial columns of the Blade, in regard to his fitness for the public station which he occupies, and which comments he attributed to my pen. I hear further, from sources entitled to full credit, that my assailant has since openly and repeatedly declared it to be his determination to take my life, if anything further appears in this paper upon that subject. To what extent he will pursue this purpose, of course I have no means of knowing. Those acquainted with him can better judge than I. To my knowledge I have never met or passed a word with him before.

In all that I have written in this connection, and in making the above plain statement of facts, I have sought to avoid everything in any way calculated unnecessarily to provoke any man's passions. What I have done, has been under a deep sense of duty to the public and to this community, to whom, as one of the conductors of this paper and as a citizen, I hold my relations of responsibility. While I retain these relations, I hope to be enabled to meet their duties without fear of consequences personal to myself.

I believe that Gambling is a vice and a crime, and that the Gambler is the enemy of society and the State, and of every valuable interest in them. This, I think, is the sentiment in most civilized communities, as it certainly is in every State in the Union. It is upon this ground that I base the position that a Gambler is unfit for any trust, public or private. It was the application of this principle to the case of Mr. Edwards, that provoked so much abuse through the Toledo Herald, and the assault above described, and the threat against my life, since made by him.

The question whether the Canal Collectorship shall or shall not be in the hands of a man who has been twice convicted of Gambling, is not the great matter at issue in this case; but it is, whether Gambling shall be considered a disqualification for any office, in this community. Neither is it a prominent point, whether the funds in the Collector's hands are now safe or not; but it is important to determine whether the practice of Gambling is calculated to endanger the public funds in the hands of those who follow it.

In conclusion, I will say, that if the time has arrived in Toledo, when my life as a public journalist is hazarded by denouncing the vice and crime of Gambling, it is very plain to my mind that the time has also arrived when it is the duty of somebody to take that hazard, and endeavor to arouse the community to a sense of its true condition and great danger. It was in a feeble attempt to discharge this duty that the Blade called attention to this subject, and with God's blessing, the purpose shall not be defeated by any considerations of a personal or pecuniary character.

I have never as yet carried a weapon of any kind, for attack or defence, and I do not intend to now. If there is not sufficient protection for me in Toledo, without the use of arms, I shall be greatly disappointed. Having had a newspaper experience extedding over twenty years, without the necessity of such defense, or an assault upon my person before, I am encouraged to believe that a similar exemption will attend the rest of my life.

C. WAGGONER.

MILWAUKEE AND MINNESOTA R. R.—Those who have had occasion to pass frequently over the Milwaukee and Minnesota Railroad will endorse every word of the following, which we find in the Portage City Record:

The Milwaukee and Minnesota Railroad Company have established a reputation for running their cars on time. The cars on this road are as sure to arrive at the hour and minute named in the time-table as the sun is to rise in the morning. The Co., too, are very fortunate in the employment of their Conductors. We don't believe a railroad in the whole country has a more accommodating, agreeable and gentlemanly set of Conductors in every respect than the Milwaukee and Minnesota; and among them we must be permitted to particularize Messrs. Olin and Todd. They spare no pains to make the journey of travelers pleasant and agreeable. They are both very popular with the traveling public, and they deserve to be.

Several parcels of new Winter wheat have been sold at $1.15a1.45 on track. Flour is very dull, and prices are entirely nominal. Corn has been active and firm throughout the week, but declined 2c at the close—with sales at 67c for No. 1 and 65c for No. 2 in store. Oats have been buoyant, with a good demand at an advance of 1a2c—closing however more quiet at 30c in store.—Nothing doing in Provisions. Hides scarce and in good demand, with an upward tendency. Wool more active, with receipt s of 66,311 lbs—nearly double those of the week previous, and a good demand at an advance of 1a2c—closing at 30a42c for common to full blood Merino.—Press & Tribune.

ROBBERY AT LA CROSSE.—On Thursday night the store of F. M. RUBLEE, at La Crosse was broken open and robbed of about two thousand dollars worth of silks, shawls, linens, &c. About one-fourth of the goods were discovered near Brownsville, concealed under the brush, but the robbers escaped down the river with the balance, and have not since been heard from.

THE CITY.

Mass Meeting of Citizens Opposed to Granting the Freedom of the City to Hogs and Cows.

A meeting of citizens took place last evening at Albany Hall, pursuant to a call in the daily papers, to take into consideration the best and quickest means of "putting a stop" to the ravages of cows and hogs. The attendance, though not large, was respectable.—CALEB WALL nominated JOHN NAZRO chairman, and Mr. A. J. AIKEN Secretary, who were both elected by acclamation. After the adoption of a resolution that Vice Presidents from each Ward be appointed, Mr. NAZRO stated the object of the meeting, and called for CALEB WALL.

Mr. WALL said: I am not in the habit of making public speeches, but I wish to say that I think we are all injured by cows and hogs running at large. I speak in regard to my own premises. I have had several valuable trees destroyed by cows, and I would rather the owner of these animals had went into my house and stolen something than had these trees spoiled. I called this meeting to get a petition signed and presented to the city government, calling on them to pass a law preventing animals running at large. There are some here to-night who suppose this meeting was called to oppress the poor man, but it is not so. We don't want to oppress anybody—what we do is for the benefit of all. I hope something will be done to-night. We've no desire to oppress anybody, but what right has the poor man to destroy my property?

Here PAT McGINNIS, surrounded by his Celtic friends, made bold to interrupt the speaker with—

"Yee's don't waant to oppriss the poor man—an what would yee's be doin the likes ov this for, be jabers. Shure an what's a poor man, or a widdy, to do wid hur pig, sure, an she hasn't the smell of a pen to kape thim in."

Mr. PAT McGINNIS No 2, took up the strain, and politely hinted, "Couldn't yes git a shillin's worth o nails and a booard, an fix yer trees, and not be making sich a splather as this?"

Mr. O'CONNOR sans coat, sans collar, sans shirt-sleeves, and for the last six months sans razor, felt called upon to join his not very intelligible eloquence with the last speaker, and together, their pathetic remonstrance was beyond the power of the most expert reporter to transcribe. Finally Mr. O'CONNOR was invited to take the platform, which he did, and continued his appeal in behalf of the poor man and widdy's cow for some minutes, to the amusement of the meeting and the pride of the aforementioned McGINNIS and friends.

MR. GEO. SOUTHWELL, Sen., spoke next, saying: I can assure those persons feeling aggrieved, that I have no invidious feeling. I have lived sixteen years in this city and I think every Irishman in my neighborhood would get up in the middle of the night to do me a favor. But I have been injured; I have had cows come in my yard and trample down my greens and potatoes; I have had hogs come in and root up my choicest plants twice. I have, or had, a nice grass plot, that I took pains with—rooted up and destroyed.

One night last week a cow entered my garden; I don't know how she got in; but I am told privately that the gates are opened and the animals driven in, and taken out and the gates closed before morning. No cow could ever have opened my gate, it was securely fastened. I wish some of these poor men could come and see my place. There is not a space as large as your four fingers that is not rooted up as though ploughed. And I think this is a grievance that demands attention from the entire city. I earned my money by the sweat of my brow, and I have expended it in beautifying and ornamenting my little place, and I justly feel aggrieved to have it destroyed.

I know not whether the animal belonged to an Irishman or an Englishman, but I know it is a very great wrong for a man to keep such an animal, and allow him to become a nuisance to all his neighbors, and then come here and justify the wrong, on the ground of his poverty." He thought we needed a "pound," where we could legally and peacefully take such animals. He also mentioned the case of a neighbor, who had recently set out a number of young trees, and had them all destroyed but two.

RE-BUILDING OF YOUNG'S BLOCK.—We are glad to learn that our enterprising fellow-citizen, WILLIAM P. YOUNG, not discouraged by the fires which have twice destroyed his block, on the corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, has already made his arrangements to re-build, and has let the contract to Mr. GRANT, one of our best mechanics. This time, profiting by experience, Mr. YOUNG intends to put up a fire-proof building. It will be four stories high, 120 feet front on each street, with thick partition walls, and conveniently arranged for stores, offices, &c. In the second story, on the Main street front, Mr. YOUNG intends to have an elegant hall for balls, concerts, &c. The block will be commenced immediately and all diligence will be used in completing it before winter sets in.

SECOND WARD HIGH SCHOOL.—The examination of the several classes in the Second Ward High School, under the charge of Professor LARKIN, will be continued and closed to-day, as follows:

Thursday, July 14.

9:00 A. M.—"C" Grammar, Miss Miner.
10:30 " —"A" Virgil, Prof. LARKIN.
11:30 " —"B" Arithmetic, Miss MINER.
2:00 P. M.—"B" Physical Geography, Miss WHEELOCK.
—"A" " " Prof. LARKIN.

The exercises in the evening will take place at the Spring Street Congregational Church and will consist of Declamation, Singing, Reading of Compositions, and remarks by several gentlemen. It is hoped that our Public Authorities and leading citizens will attend this first Anniversary of our Second Ward High School. Tickets of admission may be had at the different Book and Music Stores.

BETHEL SERVICES.—We learn that arrangements have been made by which there are to be two services each Sabbath during the remainder of the season, for the benefit of the sailors that may be in our port from time to time, and of that portion of our population who are seldom brought within the doors of our Churches. There will be preaching regularly every Sunday afternoon by the various pastors of the city, on Dousman's Dock, at Walker's Point Bridge, and a Lay service in the evening, in a hall fitted up for the purpose, corner of Reed and South Water streets. The enterprise is conducted by the Young Men's Christian Association, in connection with the Ladies' City Missionary Society. The evening services have been held several weeks, with very encouraging indications. The first of the afternoon services takes place next Sunday at 1 1-2 o'clock, with a sermon by the Rev. Mr. LOVE.

MESSRS. GOODRICH & JOHNSON are getting out a "range," for the Capital House, Madison, which, being the first of the kind manufactured "out west," deserves the attention of Hotel-keepers, generally. It is so far different from the ordinary style of cooking ranges, in that it is constructed of cast iron plates, nearly one inch in thickness, and is designed to stand out from the brick work, much in the same way as a stove. It is eight feet long, by three feet two inches broad and two feet high, independent of legs. The oven contains a surface of over 1,000 inches. The range is a decided improvement, and will meet with the approval of all why may inspect it. The cost will be about $150.

MUNICIPAL COURT, JUDGE FOOTE PRESIDING, WEDNESDAY, July 13.—Jas. Sloan, Michael Haggerty, James Sennet, and Dennis Kane, complained of for removing sand, &c., from the beach. Continued to this morning at 9 A. M.

Jas. Jordan, selling liquor without license, fined $25.

Edward Rogers, Wm. Rogers, and Patrick Shea, complained of for being disorderly.—Jury demanded by John L. Doran, counsel for defts.

The City Attorney asked a discontinuance as to the two Rogers, and trial proceeded as to Shea. The jury retired, and after being out an hour or two, stated that they were unable to agree, when they were dismissed by the Judge.

NARROW ESCAPE OF A SPAN OF HORSES FROM DROWNING.—A little after noon yesterday, a span of horses belonging to L. J. HIGBY, backed off into the river just below Chestnut street bridge, and being unable to get out there again, they swam under the bridge up the stream, and nearly reached the Cherry street bridge when they were taken out.

FOR THE EAST.—The upper cabin steam packet Oriental, Capt. BRIGGS, leaves this morning, from Dousman's Dock, at 10 o'clock, for Buffalo and intermediate ports. For passage apply at the company's office, foot of East Water street, J. GRIFFIN & Co., Agents.

QUICK! QUICKER!! QUICKEST!!—The Albany Atlas & Argus of Tuesday morning, the 12th, was received by the new Mail Route via Detroit & Milwaukee R. R., at 11 1-2 o'clock to-day, (the 13th). That is decidedly an improvement.

THE WELL KNOWN and respectable firm of ALEXANDER W. MANN & Co., Bankers and dealers in Exchange, St. Paul, Minn., have a card in our advertising columns to-day.—Those having business to transact in their line will find them honorable and trustworthy gentlemen.

THERE will be an election of a Warden and Vestryman at St. Paul's Church this morning, July 14th, at 11 1-2 o'clock at the Church.

THIS MORNING, at ten o'clock, there will be a sale of damaged flour and tea at C. WALL's Auction Room, East Water street, No. 146.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Arrival of the Ætna—The Battle of Solferino.

NEW YORK, July 13—3 P. M.

The steamship Ætna, from Liverpool on the 2d inst., arrived at this port this morning. Her advices are the same as those brought by the Canada to Halifax.

THE BATTLE OF SOLFERINO.—At Paris, it is believed in some quarters, that the French lost from 16 to 18,000, as follows: Gen. Neil's corps 6,000 to 7,000; D'Hillier's nearly 5,000; McMahon's 2,500; Canrobert's 1,500; besides casualties in the artillery and special corps. The French people are said to be dissatisfied with the scantiness of the details as yet published in the Moniteur.—The Patrie says Napoleon had an apaulette shot away. Gen. Dean is reported among the dead. The Austrians had 7 or 8 generals, and very many of their superior officers wounded. Gen. Garschke was killed. Some of the French infantry regiments were nearly cut to pieces.

The Piedmontese suffered so severely as to be incapable of forming in the line of battle.

The Vienna correspondent of the London Times, writing on the 28th, says, that some days must elapse before the complete returns of the losses of the Austrians could be received. The same writer says that the Italian regiments in the Austrian army have become very difficult to manage. The men desert by scores and fifties. In the neighborhood of Trieste, a whole battalion had riased the cry in favor of Victor Emanuel.

A vessel on the coast under the American flag, had been detected in the act of receiving the deserters on board after dark.

The people of Milan have made threatening manifestations towards the Jesuits, whom public rumors accuse of keeping up a secret correspondence with Austria.

The municipal body of Vienna have offered to maintain peace and order in case it was necessary to dispatch the garrison at Vienna to the seat of war.

Enormous masses of French soldiers were marching into Piedmont via Nice and Mount Cenis.

Napoleon was in perfect health, and the sanitary condition of his army was excellent. His head-quarters were at Vallengra, where Prince Napoleon was expected to arrive on the 30th ult.

It is reported that at Salferino nearly every officer and man of the artillery attached to the Imperial Guard, was put hors du combat. The Austrian accounts of the battle admit their loss to be 20,000 killed, wounded and missing. The Austrian official report of the battle says the right wing of the army occupied Bozzalonge, Salferino and Carecena.

The left wing marched on the 24th to Gaidizzola and Castel Goffre, and repulsed the advancing enemy on all sides, as the Imperial Army continued its advance towards Chiese. The enemy, who had also assumed the offensive, with his whole force, pushed forward such large bodies of troops, that there was a general engagement between the two armies at 10 o'clock or thereabouts.

On the morning of the 24th, the right wing, which was formed of the second army, under Count Schlick, maintained the position which it had originally occupied in the first line of battle, until 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and the left wing, under Count Wimpffen, continually gained ground in the direction of Chiese.

Towards three o'clock the enemy made a vehement attack on Salferino, and after several hours' hard fighting, obtained possession of the place, which had been heroically defended by the fifth corps d'armee.

An attack was then made on Cavriana, which place was courageously defended until evening by the first and seventh corps d'armee, but was eventually left in the hands of the enemy. While these struggles were going on, the eighth corps d'armee, which was on the outer flank, right wing, advanced and repulsed the Sardinian troops opposed to it.

This advantage did not enable the Imperial army to recover the position that had been lost in the centre, the third and ninth corps de armee, which were supported by the eleventh corps were engaged on the left wing, and the reserve cavalry attached to this wing made several most brilliant attacks. Unusually heavy losses, and the fact that the left wing of the first army was unable to make progress on the right flank of the enemy, who directed his main force in the centre against Volta, led to the retreat of the Imperial Royal army. It began late in the evening, during a very violent storm.

The correspondence of the London Herald says so little did the French expect a battle at first the previous night, that a message from the King asking for support in case he should be attacked, was met with a refusal on the ground that an attack by the Austrians was not probable. At day-break, however, the corps of Marshal D'Hilliers came in sight of Salferino, and was immediately set upon by a large Austrian force, which rushed down the hill and fought with the greatest fury. The Marshal resisted the attack to the best of his power, but it was not before three hours of frightful carnage had elapsed, that the corps of Gen. Neil made its appearance.

The Austrians were slowly driven back, and every now and then there was a pause, and the French continued to gain ground, heaps of their own and their enemies' corpses marking the fluctuations of the fight. The Austrians were thus slowly driven out of Solferino, but all of a sudden they made a tremendous burst forward, and the French were driven down the hill. Being admirably supported by their artillery, however, they made a stand, and commenced once more to advance. It was like a hail-storm of bullets and balls, and whole files were mowed down by a single discharge.

In the meantime, at the right and left wing, the Austrians were getting decidedly the best of it. The Piedmontese were being slowly driven back. Gen. Canrobert's corps was also heavily punished, and had there been a skillful General in the Austrian army to collect and concentrate their forces against the weak point of the enemy's line, matters would have had a very different aspect. The French commander, whether it be Neil, McMahon or the Emperor himself, sent forward the Imperial Guard and a strong division of the infantry line against the Austrian centre, and succeeded for a tme in breaking it.

Instead of bringing up their forces to reply to this formidable attack, the supporters were sent to the left and right wings, which did not need them. Desperate attempts were made to recapture Salferino, but the French strongly held it, and the bugles began to sound a general retreat. An attempt was made by the cavalry to pursue them, which led to an encounter between the French Chasseurs and the Austrian Hulons, in which the former were rapidly put to the right about.

It is stated that not a single Hungarian regiment was allowed to take part in the battle, and that the Italian regiments had all been previously sent to Tyrol.

Twenty thousand corpses are said to have been buried, and many were yet lying in the ditches and cornfields.

The Berlin and Vienna letters confidently speak of negotiations having been opened by Prussia with England and Russia, for the purpose of establishing, if possible, a basis for combined mediation.

The military commission of the Frankfort Diet, is said to have approved of the demand to move an army of observation to the Rhine.

The French are making immense naval preparations in the Adriatic.

Five ships of the line, 8 frigates, 6 war steamers, 13 floating batteries, 9 gun-boats, 9 brigs and two three-masted vessels, were at Antivari. They have enormous supplies on board. The admiral was about to open his sealed orders. The Brest fleet is said to be composed of 9 ships of the line, two heavy frigates, and one floating battery.

Two of the London papers state that there has been a meeting at Paris, of the diplomatic agents of France in the Levant, and that they have been despatched to their posts by orders from the Emperor.

It is presumed that they have orders to aid in the getting up of an insurrection in Turkey, in the interest of Russia.

Gen. Garibaldi has received orders to occupy the Upper Valletino, and was expected at Torano with 3,000 men, and where 500 Piedmontese had already arrived.

Skirmishes have taken place near Bernia between the French corps of Valletino and the Austrians guarding the Stelvio Pass. The Austrians number thirteen companies of infantry and two companies of carboneers.—They occupy positions between Glausus and Trafer, and a battery has been placed in a position to command the roads to Stelvio.

Barricades have also been erected, and there is fear of a descent by Garibaldi. The Swiss federal counsel has decided in concert with the belligerants, that any soldier seeking shelter on Swiss territory, shall be sent back to their country, their Governments engaging not to employ them again the present war. The garrison of Laveno and the soldiers of Garibaldi's corps will consequently be sent back. It is said that the Austrian monarch ordered the re-crossing of the Mincio, in oppsoition to the advice of Gen. Hess.

The Sardinian account of the battle of Solferino says, on the 24th the Emperor ordered the Sardinian army to occupy Pozzolengo and invest Peschiora, while the French occupied Solferino and Cavriana. Marshal D'Hilliers met with unexpected difficulties, and the Piedmontese connoisance encountered great forces of the enemy, while D'Hilliers performed prodigies of valor. At Solferino the masses of enemy continued to advance.—The Emperor perceiving that he was now contending with the entire army of the enemy, deployed the corps of Marshals Neil and McMahon, and ordered Canrobert to rejoin with the Imperial Guard.

The King had been requested to direct all possible force against Solferino, and accordingly ordered Generals Fanti and Durando to convey succor to the French. Gen. Fanti had already commanded the movement to be made.

Marshal d'Hilliers was at Solferino, and marched against Cavriana.

The King having been informed that notwithstanding the 3d and 5th division were engaged, it was difficult to carry the heights of San Marten, ordered a general attack of those divisions with the brigade. In spite of the violent tempest Gen. Della Mazmora directed his course by Pozzolongo and descended upon San Marten, but was attacked from the side of Pozzolongo.

The fourth regiment, moving to the left, repulsed the enemy, causing great losses, with our artillery; in spite of the delay of Gen. Du Vandis' corps, occasioned by the tempest and the ignorance of the guide, the third and fifth divisions and brigade dislodged the enemy from his formidable position, and a brilliant victory ended the contest of fifteen hours, which was sustained with heroic bravery.

The French account of the battle in the Moniteur thus describes it:

At five o'clock in the morning the first corps, under Marshal D'Hilliers began the engagement before Solferino. The heights and village were occupied after a sanguinary combat. During this time the second corps d'armie, Marshal McMahon's, which was on the right of the first corps in the plain, extended itself to the right to join the column of Marshal Neil, which was marching upon Medole.

The Emperor had taken command of the whole army. His majesty caused the infantry and artillery of the guard to advance and place themselves between the first and second corps, and carry San Cossiniano. Then in order to re-inforce the right of McMahon's command, which was a little exposed, in consequence of the distance which separated them and the troops of Gen. Niel. His majesty sent all the cavalry of the guard, and two divisions of cavalry of the 1st and 2nd corps up. Canrobert had been charged to watch the movements of the Austrians on the side of Mantua during the whole day.

The fight advanced slowly but always in good order, the first corps going up towards each other. The first corps after taking possession of Solferino, seized all the positions one after the other in Pozzolengo. Night alone stopped their career. The guard seized San Cassilo and Cavriano without losing time.

The last village was carried with great spirit, under the eyes of the Emperor, who himself directed the fire of the artillery. The 4th corps, under Marshal Neil, advanced step by step, always gaining ground. There was a time when, to cover their retreat, the Austrians made a desperate effort to place themselves between the 4th and 2d corps, and a fierce struggle occurred. The infantry and artillery took part in the conflict, and the cavalry, by several charges, decided the success of the day. This was the last act of the battle.

The Austrians began to retreat along the whole line. This retreat was favored by a dreadful storm, which lasted more than an hour. The thunder, hail and wind, produced such an effect that nothing could be distinguished on the field of battle. When the weather improved, the enemy had disappeared, and the direction they took was perceived when their columns had attained some distance. The Emperor of Austria, who had lodged at Cavrianna, quitted the field at 4 o'clock, and retired toward Guito.

Napoleon was in some degree superior to himself. He was everywhere directing the battle. Every one around him trembled at the dangers which unceasingly threatened him. He alone was ignorant of them.

ENGLAND.—In the House of Lords, on Friday, Lord Brougham called attention to the war in Italy, and asked if there was any truth in the report that the government intended to reduce the navy estimates. The Duke of Somerset denied the truth of the report.

Earl Hardwicke eulogized the late government for their efforts to strengthen the navy.

Earl Ellenborough fully recognized the necessity of placing the navy in proper condition, but trusted that some attention would also be devoted to the army.

In the House of Commons on Thursday, Lord Palmerston announced the intention of the new Ministry to pursue a policy of strict neutrality with reference to foreign affairs, he also announced that a reform bill would be introduced immediately after the meeting of the next session of Parliament.

Mr. Baxter gave notice of an enquiry into the advisability of cancelling the contracts of the late Government with the Galway line of steamers.

GERMANY.—The Independence Belge says that the new English Ministry had addressed counsels of moderation of the German States, cautioning them against the dangers of encouraging a policy which might lead to a general war.

SWITZERLAND.—A telegram from Berne says that the Federal Council had made animadversions to the Sardinian Government on the subject of ill treatment suffered by the Swiss at Milan.

The Council had also instructed the Swiss diplomatic agents in England to enlighten the public opinion as to the nationality of the foreign regiments in the service of the Pope and King of Naples.

FRANCE—PARIS, July 1.—The bourse opened firm, rentes closed at 63fa10c, a fraction higher than yesterday.

A telegram from the seat of war says, that an American, named E. H. Perkins, of Boston, together with his wife and three ladies, narrowly escaped being massacred at Perugia.

A letter from Jeddah says that a vessel, from Jaffa to Mecca, with 200 Musselmen pilgrims, foundered near Jeddah, and all on board drowned.

Murder at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, July 13—3 P. M.

A shocking murder occurred in South Baltimore last night. Two rowdies named Thos. Eaton and Geo. Burke, demanded William Taylor, a peaceable citizen, to go into a tavern and treat them. Taylor refusing, they knocked him down, when Burke put a pistol to his head and blew out his brains.—Eaton has been arrested but the murderer is at large.

PARIS, Saturday, July 2d.

The Moniteur contains the following telegram from the Emperor to the Empress:

VALEGIO, Friday.—The whole army has passed the Mincio. The Sardinians have invested Peschiera. The re-inforcements which I have received by the arrival of 35,000 men, under Prince Napoleon, have enabled me to approach Verona without compromising myself in any way, as I have left a corps d'armie at Giola to watch Mantua, and am about to assemble another at Balescia to watch the passes of Tyrol.

The Moniteur also contains the following official bulletin:

The force of the enemy, at the battle of Solferino, amounted to from 150,000 to 175,000. The new artillery produced a terrible effect. Its discharges reached the enemy at a distance whence their heaviest guns could not reply, and covered the plain with their dead. The loss of the French was 720 officers placed hors du combat, including 120 killed and 12,000 privates killed and wounded. Among the killed are 7 Colonels and 6 Lieut. Colonels. Among the wounded are 5 generals.

VIENNA, July 1.—The Amsterdam correspondent says that the loss at the battle of the 24th, as far as has yet been ascertained, is 15,000 killed and wounded. Further information will be published.

VERONA, July 1.—Since the 24th of June here have been merely unimportant skirmishes between the outposts.

THE SENTINEL.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE COUNTY.

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 14, 1859.

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capitol on Wednesday, the 31st day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

As the subject of selecting delegates to the next National Convention may be entertained and acted on by the Convention, it is suggested that the people in their primary caucuses, and the district conventions make such expression as will intimate to their delegates and the State Convention, the general sentiment of the State on that subject.

Each Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the State, on or before the 25th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the Convention.

The Horicon Railroad Country.

From our own Correspondent.

RIPON, July 12, 1859.

DEAR SENTINEL:—The Milwaukee and Horicon Railroad passes through the most extensive tract of magnificent agricultural country I have ever seen, except in Minnesota, above St. Anthony's Falls; and even that is not so rich as this, but vastly larger. From Horicon to Berlin, a distance of forty-two miles, it is a splendid rolling prairie, with scarcely any interruption, extending also south-west of Horicon, to Oak Grove and Beaver Dam. The prairie is broken in a few places, by small pieces of woods, that add greatly to its beauty, as do numerous small streams that wind over it.

I have been around pretty thoroughly over the tract of land above described, last fall and this summer, and do not believe there is a farmer upon the whole of it, who would be easily induced to sell out and go to farming elsewhere. Every house and farm shows neatness and thrift. The people are all of the better class—most all Americans, and the farmers' wives and daughters are every one of them rosy-cheek'd, energetic and intelligent. I can't imagine how any true woman could help being happy and interesting, living in this rich and beautiful land.

"How fresh for her the vernal zephyr blows!
For her how fair the purple morning glows!
Her's the green earth, in all its beauty given,
And her's the bright transparent dome of heaven!"

The principal places on the railroad, between Horicon and Berlin, are Waupun and Ripon. The former is well known as the location of the State's Prison, and is quite an interesting little town, aside from that.

The village corporation consists of two Wards, one in Dodge County and the other in Fond du Lac, the main street dividing them. Its population is about 1500.

Waupun is on a plain, shut in by handsome woods on the north and south. The soil is deep and unctuous. Four feet below the surface is an immense stratum of very harsh limestone, underlying the whole region: it has been bored to the depth of 100 feet. It is remarkable that wherever it is struck in this vicinity, its face is almost as smooth as if polished by art, except here and there a continuous scratch, running north-east and south-west, in every instance. It is supposed by geologists that ages ago, this stratum of limestone was the bed of a shallow part of the ocean, and that icebergs, with rocks frozen in, were swept over it, scraping the bottom.

Every cellar in the town, has naturally this smooth unbroken slab for a floor, and is walled up with it, to about three feet from the top. It is capital building material.—They are taking some pains with their streets in Waupun, and in public spirit there is unmistakeably a large amount of pride in the appearance of the place.

There is a pretty strong persecution going on here, against lager bier saloons, &c., but I doubt if it is a very healthy action. Business is very good in Waupun, for these dull times. "Euen's Strengthening Plaster" is still made here, and sent in greater quantities than I had any idea of, all over America.—The Odd Fellows here have one of the largest and wealthiest lodges in the State, and are about establishing a select school here, to be under their management. Two costly residences are being built here, but besides them there are no noteworthy structure in the place, except the State's Prison. That institution deserves a separate letter, which I propose to write when at Waupun, on my return from Stevens Point. That I might be better able to do justice to the subject, I took up my abode in the Prison building for two or three days, and was entertained as pleasantly as ever I want to be, by the State's Prison Commissioner and his family, in their private apartments.

Then I came to this town of Ripon. It is about twice the size of Waupun, and situated quite differently. It is built in a semi-circular form, around a large hill, on the summit of which are the Brockway College buildings, They were erected a few years ago, are of stone, and set off the looks of the town finely From the College Observatory, fifty thousand acres, in crops, may now be seen, divided into fields of every size and shape, and every shade of green. It must be as high a point as any in this vast prairie garden, and another such view would not be easy to find in the West.

The College is under control of the Presbyterians. No collegiate class has yet been formed, but a full preparatory course has been gone through with.

Ripon is a place of rather city habits. A concert or a good theatrical performance, is always very well attended here. It is the centre of a larger portion of this wealthy Horicon Railroad region, than any other point, and therefore has a great and paying trade.—Here are five flouring mills and a wool factory, on "Silver creek," a little stream that runs past the town, with a fall of 120 feet in two miles.

Behind the thickly built part of the town. is the charming Ceresco valley, where the Fourierites made a settlement, nearly twenty years ago. One of the houses in which a large number of them lived, after their style, is still standing. But they found the plan was'nt what it was cracked up to be, and after a while betook themselves to the usual manner of living, some of them still inhabiting the valley, like other people.

Mr. JOHN LIMBERT, of this place, has here a willow-ware manufactory. He grows the Welsh willow on four acres of land, near the town. I know of no other place in the State, where it is cultivated, to speak of. This is the second year he has cut it; the four acres yielded six tons, four of which he sold in St. Louis at $100 a ton, I think he said. The supply of willow for manufacturing in the U. S. was formerly entirely imported. But it is now one half grown in this country, chiefly in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Kentucky.

Ripon is about to make a desperate effort to get set off from Fond du Lac county, expecting to then become the capital of Green Lake county. The Democrats of Fond du Lac county will vote for setting her off, in hopes it will leave their county Democratic; that, with the whole vote of Ripon may carry it so far. As for her getting the county seat of Green Lake, it will be a more difficult matter. But according to their own story here, it is a grasping, mercenary scheme, which it is to be hoped will not succeed; indeed a property owner here, tells me in sober earnest, that he does not expect it will succeed with fair play, but that they are bound to carry it through, if money will do it.

Prof. DANIELS, State Geologist, resides a few steps out of town, in Ceresco valley. His orchards are large, excellent and well advanced. I went to see him and his lady one morning: had my fill of delicious cherries, and actually had the society of the Professor at the breakfast table. NYM CRINKLE.

THE DEMOCRACY ENDORSE CASS.—The central organ of the Ohio Democracy, as well as the leading organ of the same party in this State, endorses the CASS doctrine on the rights of naturalized citizens. The Ohio Statesman says: "The doctrine of Gen. CASS is that of common sense, reason and experience; and it is calculated to afford all the protection that a naturalized citizen, returning to his former abode, can have. That is sufficiently explicit." Our readers are already aware what the position of CASS is on the question alluded to.

THE SHIPMENTS of machinery to Russia since the opening of the navigation, have been on a scale which will go far to account for the necessity that has existed for the transmission of gold from St. Petersburg to London, especially as similar orders have been executed in America and elsewhere, many of which are paid for by draughts on this country. Within the past month the Hercules steamer has landed at St. Petersburg five complete sets of engines for first rate men-of-war, and many of our engineering firms have still large commissions to execute.

The Neva division of the Russian fleet is now asserted to comprise 80 first-class gunboats, constructed on the best recent models, while the Baltic fleet consists of 35 sail-of-line, 14 of which, at present at Cronstadt, are screw line-of-battle ships, of from 80 to 120 guns each.

THE COST OF WAR.—The whole force sent by France to the Black Sea was 309,268 soldiers and 41,974 horses; of the former 70,000 were killed or died in the hospitals, or were otherwise missing. It is considered that 93,000 were wounded and survived.—Of the horses only 9,000 returned to France. The great guns, howitzers, &c., were 644, besides 603 furnished by the navy. The light artillery for field service furnished 500 guns more, and in all there were 4800 wheel vehicles for cannon sent from France. The missiles of death, too, were fearfully vast; 2,000,000 shells and cannon balls, 10,000,000 pounds of gunpowder, and 66,000,000 of ball cartridges. One hundred batteries and fifty miles of defensive works, and five miles of subterranean galleries in a solid rock.

THE SUEZ CANAL.—The Viceroy of Egypt has forbidden the progress of the Suez Canal. The Sultan has, for years past—under the alleged influence of England—refused his assent to the work, but M. DE LESSEPS, encouraged by the French Emperor, has gone steadily on as if no impediment existed. At last, within the past month or two, he has set a body of workmen to commence the construction of piers, and even the cutting of the canal. Suddenly the Viceroy has protested, and a circular has been issued by the Egyptian Foreign Minister, requesting the various consuls-general at Alexandria to warn their respective countrymen against taking part in the operation. His Highness, it is admitted, has shown great sympathy with the scheme, but he "will never, under any circumstances, tolerate its prosecution until the requisite sanction has been obtained from Constantinople."

AT THE quarterly meeting of the Board of Arts and Manufacturers of Lower Canada, a committee consisting of Professors DAWSON, SUTHERLAND, HUNT, SMALLWOOD and MILES, was appointed to report upon the sanitary condition of the cities and towns of the Province, and suggest what legislation is necessary in the premises for the improvement of the homes of the working classes.

EXTRAORDINARY.—The vicinity of Wautoma, in Waushara county, Wis., was visited by a frost on the night of the 3d inst. On the morning of the Fourth everything out doors looked white with the frost, but it was so light as to little or no injury to the crops, with the exception of a very few pieces of corn on very low ground.

The Iowa County Seat.

The case of the State ex. rel. M. M. Cothrin vs. Joseph Lean, involving the question of the county seat of Iowa county, was to-day decided by the Supreme Court in favor of the relator, which continues the county seat at Mineral Point.

The Secretary of State, D. W. Jones, omitted to furnish a true copy of the act of the Legislature of 1858, authorizing a vote to be taken for the removal to Dodgeville. The act provided for the vote to be taken at the November election, and as published and presented in the laws of that year, it provided for the vote to be taken in April, although it was not approved until the 28th of April.—The Relator claimed that the act was a "public act" and not in force until published, and that the general election law of 1857 was unconstitutional in some of its provisions as being a restriction of the rights of citizens under the constitution.

The court on a former occasion held the election law constitutional, but decided the act to be a "general law" and by the constitution not in effect until published.

The defendant put in an answer showing the publication by the Secretary of State in the paper of the State printer, on the 24th of September, 1858, to which the relator demurred, and presented the question whether the publication at that time was good, which was the question argued on Friday by Mr. Cothren and J. H. Knowlton for relator, and J. C. Hopkins and J. Downer, for respondent. The Court decided that the publication at that time, in the State paper, was unauthorized, and that the law did not go into effect on that publication, which disposes of the whole case. A peremptory writ was therefore awarded commanding the respondent, who is the register of deeds of that county, to remove his office back to Mineral Point, a vote having been taken under the law and decided in favor of Dodgeville by 356 majority, and he under and by the direction of the board of supervisors, having removed his office to Dodgeville in January last.

This disposes of the case for the present, but it will undoubtedly be brought before the Legislature again.

The blunder of the Secretary of state shows a singular carelessness in the business of the office, if it was purely an oversight.

The Court has, during the progress of the case, decided several important questions of practice in mandamus cases, as well as the questions of general importance involved.

The opinions were prepared by Justice Paine, and are spoken of as being very able. Justice Cole dissented on the question of publication, he holding that the publication in September was good and sufficient. He has not yet filed his dissenting opinion.—Madison Journal, July 11.

A MAN ARRESTED FOR A MURDER COMMITTED TWENTY-FOUR YEARS AGO.—It seems that a little over twenty-four years ago, a man named C. B. Ivey, residing in Roane county, East Tennessee, conceived a dislike to a sister-in-law residing in that county, and murdered her in a deliberate and cold-blooded manner. He was arrested for the crime, tried, convicted, but owing to some palliating circumstance connected with the affair, instead of being executed was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. Shortly after his incarceration in jail, however, he effected his escape, and made his way to Arkansas, where he settled on the Arkansas river, and resided up to within a few weeks past. During his residence in Arkansas—a period of some twenty-two years—he married a highly respectable lady of that State, became the father of a family, the owner of a large plantation, and was honored by his fellow citizens with the post of magistrate for a term of ten years, and the duties of which position he discharged with fidelity and to the general acceptance of the citizens.

He also became connected with and for years was a leading member of one of the prominent Christian denominations of the day. But the appearance at his home, about two weeks since, of an officer, armed with a requisition from the Governor of the State whose laws he had outraged, at once and forever dissipated all his assurances of safety, and without resistance he yielded himself up to the official's custody. He arrived in this city last evening, in charge of the person who traced him out, and will be conveyed at once to Roane county, taking to-day's train on the Memphis and Charleston railroad.—Memphis Bulletin.

A GOOD MAN, who has seen much of the world, and is not tired of it, says: "The grand essentials to happiness in this life are, something to do, something to love, and something to hope for."

Maine Republican State Convention.

The Republicans of Maine held a State Convention at Portland, on Thursday, the 7th instant, for the nomination of a candidate for Governor, the appointment of a State Central Committee, &c. The Convention was called to order at 10 1-2 o'clock, by the Hon. John L. Stevens of Augusta, Chairman of the State Committee. The Hon. Job Prince of Turner, was chosen President of the Convention pro tem., and Messrs. J. M. Lincoln, of Bath, and N. B. Sawyer, of Belfast, were appointed Secretaries pro tem.

Committees were appointed on credentials, resolutions, &c., and the Convention permanently organized by the selection of the Hon. John B. Brown, of Portland, as President, with the usual number of Vice-Presidents and Secretaries.

Mr. Brown tendered his thanks for the honor conferred, expressed his determination to perform his duty to the best of his capacity, and as a citizen of Portland, welcomed this noble delegation of the Republicans of the State of Maine. He felt certain they would choose the right man as their candidate for Governor, and that they had the power to put him in the chair of office.

On motion of Mr. J. S. Pike, of Calais, the term of the office of the present State Committee was prolonged till the 1st of next January, and that time specified for the commencement of the next Committee's term.

The further proceedings of the Convention we find in a telegram to the Boston Traveler, as follows:

The Convention met again about 2 o'clock. No business being in readiness, the Hon. S. P. Benson and the Hon. Freeman H. Morse were called upon for speeches. Neither gentlemen were found to be present. Z. K. Pangborn, of Boston, being then called upon, responded. He said there was a time when the people of Massachusetts mourned over the condition of Maine and New Hampshire; but now they gave themselves no trouble about those States, thinking they knew enough to take care of themselves. He said the issues of the great campaign of 1860 were already made up; they were clear and distinct.—Douglas would be ruled out of the Charleston Convention; but in any event, if the Republicans did their duty, victory was sure to perch upon their banner.

A ballot for candidate was taken with the following result:

Whole number of votes	610
Necessary to a choice	306
Lot M. Morrill, of Augusta, had	596
Scattering	14

The result of the ballot was greeted with applause.

The Convention having appointed a Committee to wait on Gov. Morrill, that gentleman soon appeared in the hall. He was received with applause and accepted the nomination in a speech of considerable duration. He thanked the Convention for their generous reception. He accepted the honor of the position to which he had been assigned, confident in the justness and soundness of the principles of the Republican party, and assured of their co-operation he had no apprehension of the result of the great conflict of opinion now going on. He was not dismayed by the modest assumption that all the talent of the State was outside of the Republican party. The speaker said he had at the outset accepted the issue imposed by the new doctrine of slavery, and to-day he was ready to declare that it was the highest duty of an American to resist the doctrine that the Constitution carried slavery into the Territory and there fastened it upon an unwilling people. The speaker briefly reviewed the current history of the times, in regard to the question of Negro Slavery, to show how wide had been the departure from the policy of the founders of our Constitution; and with a few words of hopeful augury, and a repetition of his thanks to the Convention, Gov. Morrill concluded.

Mr. Goodenow, from the Committee on Resolutions, reported nine resolutions.

The first resolution re-affirms the declaration of the Philadelphia Republican platform of 1856.

The second resolution supports the doctrine of Popular Sovereignty, as follows:

Resolved, That we hold unequivocally to the doctrine of genuine popular sovereignty, and the rights of the people in every State and Territory to establish their own institutions in their own way, subject only to the constitutional powers of Congress, and the restraints of a just morality; but we deny the right of any community to oppress the weaker, to enact laws that do not operate with equal and exact justice upon every man who is subject to them; and we denounce the heresy that one class of men have the right to enslave another as an audacious denial of the doctrine in question, and a bold assault upon the only just foundation of government, and dangerous to the liberties of the people.

The third answers the proposition to re-open the African slave trade; the inaction of the General Government in not bringing slavers and pirates to justice, and its action in sending such as were arrested to trial in places where acquittal was certain, thus rendering it obnoxious to the charge of conniving at the re-opening of the traffic.

The fourth approves the Homestead bill, giving 160 acres to every settler, and argues that the defeat of the bill in the United States Senate by the Democratic party was a proof of the subserviency of that party to Slavery.

The fifth affirms that the purposes of the leaders of the Democratic party in favor of extending Slavery are unchanged, and that notwithstanding their failure in Kansas they are pushing into New Mexico and Oregon.

The sixth denounces as a disgraceful and noticeable apostacy, the abandonment by the Democratic party of a great cardinal principle, of the equal rights of men, which will be its ruin.

The seventh argues the hypocrisy of the present Administration, in denying protection to the naturalized citizens beyond the limits of our country, and declares the duty of our Government to make its nationality respected and protect every individual who becomes a portion of the nation.

The eighth pledges the Republican party to the encouragement of the manufactures, the settlement of our public lands, the development of our material resources and the improvement and perfection of our common school system: this looks to the establishment of a State Normal School.

The last approves the signal ability of the State administration of Mr. Morrill.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

William Pitt Fessenden was next introduced and was received with cheers. He had just recovered from a serious illness, and therefore made a brief but effective speech.

He was followed in a very energetic address by Freeman H. Morse, of Bath, Representative, whose address regarded the slave trade and the criminality of the Government in reference to it.

On motion of Dr. Pickard, of Hampden, votes of thanks were returned to the President and Secretary, and at 5 1-4 o'clock the Convention closed with three cheers for Morrill.

EFFECTS OF THE WAR ON THE GERMAN BANKS.—A foreign correspondent of the Boston Transcript writes:

I passed through Saxony and Bavaria a few weeks ago. The excitement in Augsburg (the great money market of southern Germany) was even then very great. Apprehending I might be a little short of funds before reaching my then destination, I called at the Bureau of one of the principal bankers and offered a bill on Barings' at three days' sight, not asking the rate, and showing my circular letter of credit, on which was a margin of some 30,000 francs—they replied that they "did not wish to purchase, that nothing was doing," &c.

I went to the American Consul and got the addresses of six other bankers—the same answer. In every office anxiety was visible on all faces; undertone conversations, abstracted manner, nervous impatience to be released, forced efforts to be polite, characterized every room into which I went. I returned to my hotel and made a nice calculation of the cost of my journey of 3 days, and found that I had probably enough: yet the fit was so close that I resolved I would not give up without another trial. So I started again, went to the house I had first applied to—(Paul Stetten)—and said: Gentlemen, I am a traveler, fortified with a good letter from one of the first houses in Europe, and altho' no Augsburg banker is named in this letter, I think a house of your standing should not refuse to cash a draft for £10 under such circumstances. I looked him straight in the eye, and he—gave in—charging me only a fair discount; he was ashamed to refuse!—On inquiry I found, indeed, that the greatest commercial alarm pervaded the community, every man fearing failure, and many bankruptcies having already taken place. Exchanges in the north or Europe have been knocked into pi for two or three months past. Early in May I received only 6 thalers and 14 groschen for the pound sterling—(average rates 6.20.)

AN ARDENT REPUBLICAN.—H. S. LOVE, Esq., accepting the nomination for State Attorney-General of the Republican State Convention of California defined his position as follows:

"I am happy to say to this Convention that I am a Republican. I am about five feet ten inches in heighth, and every inch a Republican. [Cheers.] I have been a Republican from my youth, and I intend to die a Republican. [Applause.] I recollect when I first came to the State, I was known as a Bill Seward Whig, and I stayed a Bill Seward Whig as long as there was a piece of the Whig party left, and now I am a Bill Seward Republican. [Cheers.] And permit me to say that I would travel from here to St. Louis, or any other place, in the darkest night, over ploughed fields, to vote for him, if it was necessary to do so to elect him."

THE Duchess de Maine once frankly declared—"I am very fond of company, for I listen to no one, and every one listens to me."

THERE are three things in the choice of which you should not hurry—a wife, a minister and a horse.

Achievements of Garibaldi.

A correspondent of the London Times, writing from Brescia, says:

As I have mentioned Garibaldi and his corps, it will perhaps interest you to hear how he came from Bergamo to Brescia. The Austrians had scarcely withdrawn from Bergamo when a messenger was caught on the road, who brought orders from head-quarters to hold Bergamo at any price. If it had not been given up yet. It would have been rather awkward had the order come before, for Garibaldi, without any cannon, would scarcely have thought of attacking the Austrians in a town enclosed by high ramparts, with only two outlets. As it was, the National Guard fell to making barricades so as to keep the place against the Austrians should they attempt to return. In the meantime Garibaldi went after the Austrians, who were retiring towards Brescia. In order to mislead them, he turned down towards Romano, which is close to the high road from Milan to Brescia; the Austrians followed to bar the road to Brescia; they had scarcely gone off on that scent, when Garibaldi turned again to the north, and, making a march of 45 miles in less than 24 hours, appeared in Brescia before the Austrians had the remotest idea of his whereabouts. How little they knew appears from the fact that the Major attached as chef d'état major to Gen. Urban's division was caught with several orderlies in the town of Brescia, into which he had come from the neighborhood, never suspecting the presence of Garibaldi's corps.

The most beautiful thing, however, was that while the main body went in all haste to Brescia, 24 men were put on two omnibuses the two officers commanding them, Colonel Turr and Major Camozi, following in little two wheeled carts of the country. The whole went off to Lake Iseo and raised the Val Camonica. The people arose immediately, some 4,500 stands of arms were ready, with which the National Guard was armed, the Austrian steamer was taken possession of, and the two officers returned, leaving the 24 men there as a garrison, but bringing 550 volunteers to Garibaldi's camp.

Such marvelous feats of mobility can of course only be done with troops who are unencumbered by baggage, a little containing a shirt and perhaps a pair of socks, is the only baggage which officers or men have. They make a war according to the late Sir Charles Napier's ideas. They have good boots, with leather gaiters up to the middle of the legs, the trousers, rather loose, are stuck into the gaiters; a short tunic of light gray linen, and over it a grey coat reaching down to the knees, a light cap and a rifle complete the accoutrement. There is no difference in this respect between officers and soldiers. If, as is natural after such marches, things are worn out, the inhabitants of the first town in which they appear to give of their own free will, ten times more than they want. The troops have thus such plenty that Government never even thinks of supplying any of their wants.

Napoleon and the Pope.

From the New York Tribune, 4th.

Louis Napoleon set out in the present war with guaranteeing to the Pope the integrity of his dominions. This guaranty was given, no doubt, on the same politic considerations which led to the occupation of Rome by French troops, the suppression of the Roman Republic, and the restoration of the Papal Government. Regard for Pius IX, either as an individual or a ruler, has nothing to do with it. It is not intended for his advantage, but for that of Louis Napoleon himself, who, by such an offering to Buncombe, hopes to retain in his following the millions of zealous Catholics in France, who would be alienated, were he to pursue in Rome the policy he professes for the rest of Italy, by letting the people kick the Pope overboard and put themselves under the government of Sardinia, whether temporarily or permanently.

But, in pursuing this course, Louis Napoleon has to encounter some pretty serious difficulties. Thus, in Rome itself, the Pope, the Cardinals, the local authorities, are all as decidedly Austrian in their feelings as any member of Francis Joseph's staff. Hence result collisions and ill-feeling not only between the French officers and the higher employees of the Papal Government, but between the soldiery and the lower orders of the people who are controlled and animated by the priesthood.

In some instances these manifestations have gone very far, but the vigilance of the French commander-in-chief, Gen. Goyon, has prevented any serious disturbance. He has also prevented the citizens of Rome from declaring themselves in favor of the national movement, which would be an act of rebellion against the Pope. But he has not been able to do this in the provincial towns; and at one of these, Perugia, the Papal authorities have taken a bloody vengeance upon the rebels, causing them to be shot down without mercy by the Pope's Swiss mercenaries.

Now, will Louis Napoleon allow Cardinal Antonelli to slaughter the subjects of Rome for expressing their sympathy with what he is doing in Lombardy and their desire to aid him? This seems hardly possible. Or will he order Antonelli to stop, and compel him to obey the order? This would be to favor rebellion, and would deny to the Pope the right to suppress it. In that event, what becomes of the great edifice of Buncombe so laboriously erected for the benefit of the catholics of France?

It is a perplexing question; and it is hard to see how Napoleon the III. can avoid serving Pio Nino very much as Napoleon I. served Pio Settimo.

THE CHILD-ANGEL.—Death has forever closed those little eyes and forever shrouded their bright glances. How sweetly she sleeps, that little coveted angel! How lightly curl the glossy ringlets on her forehead! You could weep your very soul away to think those cherub lips will never, never unclose. Vainly you clasp and unclasp that passive, darling hand that wandered so often over your cheeks. Vainly your anguished glances strive to read the dim story of love in those faded orbs. That voice, sweet as winds blowing through wreaths and garlands, slumbers for ever. And still the busy world knocks at your door, and will let you have no peace. It shouts in your ear, it smiles in your face, it meets you at the coffin, at the grave, and its heavy footsteps tramp up and down in the empty room from whence you have borne your dead. But it comes never in the hush of night to wipe away your tears! In the solemn silence of the grave we feel the force of the sickening sorrow which hangs heavily upon the heart, as though it would press it down into the narrow space in which the spirit dwells in mournful suspense. But a bright vision meets the eye. Can you look up! can you bear the splendor of the sight? ten thousand celestial beings, and your radiant child angel in the midst of them—

In her eyes a glory bright,
On her brow a glory crown.

THE LIGHT OF A CHEERFUL FACE.—There is no greater every-day virtue than cheerfulness. The light of a cheerful face diffuses itself, and communicates the happy spirit that inspires it. The sourest temper must sweeten in the atmosphere of continuous good humor. Be cheerful, always. There is no path but will be easier traveled, no load but will be lighter, no shadow on heart or brain but will lift sooner in the presence of a determined cheerfulness. What is gained by peevishness and fretfulness—by perverse sadness and sullenness? If we are ill, let us be cheered by the trust that that we shall soon be in health—if misfortune befall us, let us be cheered by hopeful visions of better fortune—if death robs us of the dear ones, let us be cheered by the thought that they are only gone before, to the blissful bowers where we shall all meet to part no more forever.

Cultivate cheerfulness, if only for personal profit. You will do, and bear every duty and burthen better by being cheerful. It will be your consoler in solitude, your passport and commendator in society. You will be more sought after, more trusted and esteemed for your steady cheerfulness. The bad, the vicious, may be boisterously gay, and vulgarly humorous, but seldom or never truly cheerful. Genuine cheerfulness is an almost certain index of a happy mind, and a pure good heart.

FEVER AND AGUE.—A CASE OF EIGHT MONTHS' STANDING CURED BY BOERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS.—Michael Kelly, No. 117 Seventh, near Grant st., Pittsburgh, says:

"Last July, while running on the river, on a cotton-boat plying between Natchez and New Orleans, I was taken with Fever and Ague. For eight long months I suffered with this deceitful disease. The greater part of this time I was unable to work, and spent at least fifty dollars for different medicines, but found no permanent relief. Three weeks ago one of my friends insisted upon my trying Boerhave's Holland Bitters, saying that a cure was guaranteed. After taking it for one week, I must say I was a sound man. I have been at work now for two weeks, and have had no return of the Chills or Fever, whatever."

I certify that the above statement is true.

THE PURE WINES OF HUNGARY.

STATE ASSAYER'S OFFICE, 32 Somerset St., BOSTON, July 1st, 1858.

Messrs. FREUND & GROSSINGER.—

Gentlemen:—I received from you eight samples of Red and White Hungarian Wines, which, at your request, I have submitted to chemical analysis. I send you the details with this letter.

From my researches it appears that these Wines are pure, and they contain nothing but the products of the grape. I can confidently recommend them to the public as good and pure wines, and as not so likely to become sour as the light wines of France.

I exposed my samples forty-eight hours to the air, in a warm room, without any souring having taken place.

The general character of the red Hungarian Wines is that of the Red Burgundy of France, and the White Wines (with the exception of the sweet or dessert wine) are between Hock and Sauterne, but somewhat stronger than either of these.

I am satisfied that, when known to the public, the Hungarian Wines will be greatly in favor, and that they will be much sought for.

Respectfully, your obedient servant,
CHARLES T. JACKSON, M. D.,

THE BABY.

Another little wave
Upon the sea of life;
Another soul to save
Amid its toil and strife.

Two more little feet
To walk the dusty road;
To choose where two paths meet,
The narrow, or the broad.

Two more little hands
To work for good or ill;
Two more little eyes;
Another little will.

Another heart to love,
Receiving love again;
And so the baby came,
A thing of joy and pain.

NOT LOST FOREVER.

BY WILLIAM WINTER.

Not lost forever, though on earth we've parted!
Not lost forever, though we meet no more!
They do not wander, lone and broken-hearted,
Who see Heaven's radiance on the further shore.

Not lost forever! every gentle token
That memory wins me from the far away,
Shall fill my soul, though all our ties are broken,
With tender grace that never can decay.

Not lost forever! while around me springing,
The violets weep, the roses blush and bloom;
And Summer birds, in Summer woodlands singing,
Flood with soft music all the tranquil gloom.

There will be meanings in the stars, the flowers
The grand and solemn voices of the sea—
Telling of happy dreams and happy hours,
When life had sunshine, which it caught from thee!

Not lost forever! thou shalt still be near me,
Through every fortune, and in every clime;
When cares oppress, or gentle memories cheer me;—
Thou shalt be with me, dearest, all the time!

Something about Garibaldi's Wife.

The interest which centres in Garibaldi naturally induces a desire to know something of his early history, and the course of training which has formed a character so remarkable as his. This desire, it seems, is to be met by an autobiography, of which a translation is announced from the hand of "his friend and admirer," Mr. Theodore Dwight, of New York. From the advance sheets of the work, we learn that Garibaldi's devotion to the cause of Italian independence, led to his expulsion from his native country as early as 1834. "On the 5th of February of that year," he says, "I passed out of the gate of Linterna of Genoa in disguise—a proscript! A few days after I saw my name for the first time, in a newspaper; but it was in a sentence of death!" With this pleasant document as a passport and recommendation of character, he sailed soon after for Brazil, where, with a number of his countrymen, he joined the Republicans of the Province of Rio Grande against the Imperial government. His adventures in this service were numerous, but not of a kind to give more than a very local glory. The movement with which he was connected was soon crushed out, but not until he had married a woman cast in the same mould with himself, who shared in all his adventures, and whose heroism equalled his own. There is something peculiarly touching in the manner in which he speaks of her throughout his memoirs. He had lost most of his friends in battle and shipwreck, and "was left in a state of complete isolation." He felt as if alone in the world, and was oppressed with the want of some one to love him. In this state of mind he encountered the woman whom he made his wife. But we shall let him tell his own story:

"I one day cast a casual glance at a house in the Burra, (the eastern part of the entrance of the Jayuna,) and there observed a young female whose appearance struck me as having something very extraordinary.—So powerful was the impression made upon me at the moment, though from some cause which I was not able to fully ascertain, that I gave orders and was transported towards the house. But then I knew of no one to whom I could apply for an introduction. I soon, however, met with a person, an inhabitant of the town, who had been acquainted with me from the time of arrival. I soon received an invitation to take coffee with his family, and the first person who entered was the lady whose appearance had so mysteriously but irresistibly drawn me to the place. I saluted her; we were soon acquainted; and I found that the hidden treasure which I had discovered was of a rare and inestimable worth. But I have since reproached myself for removing her from her peaceful native retirement to scenes of danger, toil and suffering. I felt most deeply self-reproach on that day when, at the mouth of the Po, having landed, in our retreat from an Austrian squadron, while still hoping to restore her to life, on taking her pulse I found her a corpse, and sang the hymn of despair. I prayed for forgiveness, for I thought of the sin of taking her from her home."

Something may be inferred of the character of this woman from the circumstance that she was accustomed to follow her husband in all of his campaigns, and to fight by his side in battle. Paragraphs like the following are frequent in his narrative:

"I was at my post in the Rio Pardo; and my wife, the incomparable Anita, fired the first shot, putting the match to the gun with her own hand, and animating with her voice the timid and the hesitating.

"The battle was short, but a murderous one. Not many were killed, because very few were left on board; but I was the only officer in the three vessels left alive. All the enemy's squadron entered, making a tremendous fire, favored by the wind and the current flowing in, by which their velocity was much increased, and anchored at the distance of a cannon shot from our vessels, still keeping up their cannonade. I asked Canabarro for men to continue the battle; but received, in answer, an order to destroy the vessels and retire, with all the remainder that could be landed. I sent Anita with the message, directing her to remain on shore; but she returned with the answer, showing a coolness and courage which excited my astonishment and highest admiration. To her boldness and exertions was due the saving of the ammunition, which was safely landed. When this was effected, I remained alone on board, having yet to perform the last act of setting the little flotilla on fire.

"Among the many sufferings of my stormy life, I have not been without happy moments—and among them I count that in which, at the head of the few men remaining to me after numerous conflicts, and who had gained the character of bravery, I first mounted and commenced my march, with my wife at my side, in a career which had always attractions for me, even greater than that of the sea. It seemed to me of little importance that my entire property was that which I carried, and that I was in the service of a poor republic, unable to pay anybody. I had a sabre and a carbine, which I carried on the front of my saddle. My wife was my treasure, and no less fervent in the cause of the people than myself; and she looked upon battles as an amusement, and the inconveniences of a life in the field as a pastime. Then, whatever might happen, I was looked upon with smiles; and the more wild the extensive and desert American plains appeared, the more beautiful and delightful they seemed to my eyes. I thought myself in the performance of my duty, in encountering and overcoming the dangers to which I exposed myself, as the object I had in view was the good of men who needed my aid."

RICHARDSON'S
IRISH LINENS, DAMASKS
DIAPERS, &c.

CONSUMERS OF RICHARDSON'S Linens, and those desirous of obtaining the Genuine Goods, should see that the goods they purchase are sealed with the full name of the firm, RICHARDSON, SONS & OWDEN, as a guarantee of the soundness and durability of the Goods.

This caution is rendered essentially necessary, as large quantities of inferior and defective Linens are prepared, season after season, and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, by Irish Houses, who, regardless of the injury thus inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers of the genuine goods, will not readily abandon a business so profitable, while purchasers can be imposed upon with goods of a worthless character.

COMMERCIAL.

WEDNESDAY, July 13th, 1859.

Money Matters, &c.

Exchange was very weak to-day, and though sustained at 1¼ ₩ cent by the banks, was obtainable at 1½ premium, which will very likely be the current rate in the course of a day or two. Money is easily to be had on good security, but business of all kinds being light just now, the demand is more than usually moderate. Discounts at Bank 10 ₩ cent. Brokers' rates 1@2 ₩ cent a month for short loans. Gold is selling at the same rate as exchange, and is bought at 1½ ₩ cent.

We understand that the recent action of the Bankers of this city, has had the effect of bringing nearly all the country banks into the central redemption plan, and those that have still neglected to take make provision for the redemption of their notes here, will probably before long experience an inconvenience that will convince them of the necessity of adopting the same rule. To this, more than any other cause, may be attributed the present increase in the supply of exchange.

Breadstuffs, &c.

The following table shows the movements of breadstuffs at this point for the past 24 hours, as reported at the Chamber of Commerce:

Shipments.

To Collingwood..270	....	....	....	....	....	....

The downward tendency in wheat continues, the prospect of a good harvest being not the least amongst the causes tending to suppress the market. Spring wheat declined 2 to 3c to-day. No. 1 selling at 80@85c, and extra No. 1 at 95c@$1. No transactions in extra club reported. Considering the light receipts the market was tolerably active. Nothing done in flour. Oats declined another cent fully, selling at 37c delivered and free on board. Corn was nominally lower, though held at previous quotations. Some new potatoes were reported as having been on the market to-day at $1 ₩ bushel. Old remain dull as last quoted. Highwines were slightly firmer. No change to note in other articles.

HARVESTING COMMENCED.—The farmers have commenced harvesting their winter wheat in Walworth and one or two other counties. It is turning out better than had been expected. We were informed to-day by a farmer of fifteen years experience in Wisconsin, that the prospect for a good crop of spring wheat in this State, were never more promising than at the present time.

RECEIPTS AT BUFFALO.—Receipts of breadstuffs at Buffalo by Lake, for the week ending July 12th, were as follows:

Flour, bbls	22,475
Wheat, bus	46,932

Corn, bus	77,666
Barley, bus	1,851
Rye, bus	562

The wheat market to-day was very flat and heavy, and although transactions were very limited, yet the market declined 5c on spring. Sales amount to about 17,000 bushels, at $1,25 for new white on track; $1,15 for new red; $1,12½ for No. 1 red in store; 87c for No. 2 red, 70@75c for standard spring; and 63@64c for No. 2 spring—the market closing quiet at the inside figures. Flour was dull and without any movement. Corn declined 1@2c, with sales of about 28,000 bushels at 80c f. o. b. for canal; 66@68c for No. 1; and 75c for No. 2. Oats were in fair request, but not quite so firm. About 5,000 bus sold at 41c f. o. b. for No. 1. Nothing doing in rye or barley. Provisions stagnant. Tallow in good demand. THE PROPELLER GLOBE ASHORE—The Captain of the propeller Mendota which arrived here yesterday, reports the propeller Globe ashore on Point Pelee, Lake Erie, near the new lighthouse, with a full cargo of grain and other produce, mostly from Chicago. She went ashore on Saturday morning about the same hour that the Rocket ran ashore here. The Mendota endeavored to haul her off on Saturday, but without success. The Globe, we believe, is the largest propeller on the Lakes. She lay on a sandy beech, with her bow about four feet out of the water, but was not leaking. The Captain sent for assistance to Detroit, and if the weather held out fair it was thought that she would be got off without injury.

IMPORTANT NOTICE
—TO—
MILLWRIGHTS AND OWNERS.

The Excelsior Water Wheel Co.

ARE MANUFACTURING A NEW KIND of Water Wheel, patented 11th May, and 11th December, 1855, by J. H. Fairchild, of Vermont. It involves an entirely new principle of obtaining power, and of controlling the water, by which we obtain a greater maximum power than is afforded by any other wheel now in use. Some of the advantages of this wheel are:—

1st. We obtain the ENTIRE WEIGHT of the water, and have the advantage of the full head and fall, from water to water.

2d, It surpasses all other wheels in velocity and power.

3d. It is perfectly under the control of the workmen, either when used to drive a large or small amount of machinery, as the strength of the wheel is not diminished by reducing its motion, since it depends upon the WEIGHT of the column of water above the wheel, which always remains about the same.

4th. It occupies less space than any other wheel—is placed inside the flume, near the SURFACE of the water, and is never affected by frost.

5th, The wheel is very durable, being made of iron, and can be put in in any place and attached to Saw Mills, Grist Mills, and machinery of all kinds, with LESS expense than any other wheel. The velocity of the wheel is such that the expense of gearing up is avoided for nearly all purposes.

Together with the advantages above stated, we are ready to warrant the Wheel to possess a power equal to the following figures, for each foot fall of water.

[illegible]

Wheels of the above sizes make from 40 to 100 revolutions per minute. [illegible]

MOORE'S
Thirty Dollar, Double Lock Stitch,

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!!
SECURED BY RECENT LETTERS PATENT.

THE ADVENT OF THIS NEW, MOST useful and incomparable Machine is destined to create a great and decided change in public opinion upon the subject of CHEAP SEWING MACHINES.

We confidently assert and can conclusively prove, by a practical demonstration, that this Machine embraces in its construction the best combination of SCIENTIFIC PRINCIPLES to be found in any Sewing Machine now before the public, regardless of price! With an eye quick to detect the deficiences and imperfections of other Machines, Mr. Moore has sought to remedy them all; and we feel assured a critical examination of this beautiful piece of machinery, will at once establish it as the only real desirable cheap Machine in the country, and far preferable to any high priced Machine now sold. It sews directly from two spools, (as bought at the store, without re-winding,) one above the Machine, and one underneath, and makes the strongest, most elastic and durable stitch, made either by hand or machinery. It cannot be ripped, though the cloth is cut entirely off every half inch. The stitch possesses the same elasticity on thin as upon thick goods, thereby making it particularly applicable for articles that require washing and ironing. The machinery for feeding the cloth is unlike all others, and is without doubt, the best constructed.

The breaking of needles, a common and expensive fault with most other Machines, is entirely remedied in this; with proper care one needle will last for months. The entire Machine is simple in construction, and made in every respect perfect and durable. Unlike other Machines, there is no danger of damaging the article sewed by oil, as none is used on top of the Machine. It is also made large enough for every description of work, there being a clear space nine inches in length, by four in height, between the needle and end of the Machine. In beauty of design and mechanical construction, it has no equal in the country; all the movements being positive, and the friction light, there is not the slightest probability of its getting out of order. It stands entirely upon its own merits, and needs no better reference than its own good works to convince all who see it, that it is the most valuable and humanitary invention of the age.

It is our intention to sell a small portion of the territory by States or Counties upon an equitable and fair basis. As a safe and highly remunerative investment it has no equal. Extensive arrangements have been made for the manufacture of these Machines, and the large profit to owners of territory, commend the enterprise to the attention of all who wish to make money rapidly on a small outlay. We will send a sample Machine, securely boxed by express or otherwise, to any address upon receipt of Thirty Dollars. Every Machine is warranted. Send for a descriptive circular giving full particulars.
